
40 independent networks, six paired settings per network; network-level bootstrap 95% intervals.
The primary comparison averages within each network first. All policies share observations and nine-start fitting for identical sets.